Vidify is a free program that lets you record and upload your screen videos directly from Internet Explorer (running on Windows and Mac OS), Firefox, and Chrome. Vidify extracts screen content such as messages, IMs, appointments, videos, and music from any web browser for easy transfer. Vidify supports audio recording in the following cases: Using the Windows Voice Recorder. Using the Window Narrator utility. Using the Quicktime Player while a podcast is playing. Using the Apple Quicktime Player while a video is playing. Using Evernote Recorder while a video is playing. Vidify also supports internet video recorders such as Veoh, YouTube, Vimeo, and Live365. You can record all the videos in flash, images, and music on the Web. Vidify can record all videos with the exception of MMS files and files of the 'RealPlayer X' type. The RealPlayer X codec is installed on the Windows operating system by default. You can also record audio from the microphone or soundcard on your computer. You can also record audio from Windows Media Player, QuickTime Player, iTunes, and Totem Player. Vidify opens the settings and recording settings in a new window. That window allows you to manually set the quality of the recorded video. Or, you can set the quality via the webcam. You can also set the name of the recording, the length of the recording, the use of subtitles, the size and length of the recording, and the time and date of the recording. FamFamFam has been free software for a long time, but everyone forgets, because it's not very popular. The interface: it's simple, and it's not too clumsy. The program is developed as a light-weight application. And you don't have to use it regularly. What the program does: it is a basic installer that allows you to install FamFamFam as a development environment in your system. Your computer will be reinstalled with an environment for FamFamFam. And since FamFamFam is a development environment for FamFamFam it allows you to develop and publish applications for FamFamFam in the program. To use FamFamFam, you just install FamFamFam. Open the program, and you will find the menus and tools for working with FamF

What's New in the Social Screen Capture?

Social Screen Capture is a desktop utility to upload photos and screenshots to an online gallery. The ultimate goal is to make it as easy as clicking a button and uploading to Flickr, DeliBase, Picasa, or imgur. It can be used to "screenshot" websites for easy screenshot sharing, or it can capture screen images to upload to websites like Flickr, Picasa, Piczo, or DeliBase. You can even use your own images to upload to any online gallery. Social Screen Capture can also open a web page, save the image, close the page, then print it in the same step. Save the image to your computer, print it, or upload it. You must use a free flickr, picasa, or deliBase account. You can use your own images on the free service, but you are not allowed to upload private images. Social Screen Capture is 100% freeware. There is no adware, spyware, or hidden costs. Supports Windows 7, 8, 10 Key features: - Automatically finds connected devices (wireless, local network, or dialup modem) - Supports your local network and connected devices by joining the new Local Network Discovery feature - Uses a new global API to discover other social services with picasa and deliBase. - Create a free account at any online service like picasa, deliBase, and flickr. - Option to view "last uploads" in the app - Save image as .jpg, .png, or .bmp - Save image to Desktop or My Pictures folder - Option to print the image - Saves the screenshots to your camera, printer, or network photo printer - Option to upload to flickr for public or private galleries - Select to close the page after your upload or keep the page open and print directly. New: Updated to the Picasa 3.0 API. Thumbs are now in the Upload view. With the new Picasa 3.0 API, the Screenshot page now supports new API actions: - Thumb_url - Get the thumb URL for an image (for use in the context of the Picasa image viewer) - Thumb_large - Get a thumbnail from the perspective of a larger image - Thumb_small - Get a thumbnail from the perspective of a smaller image - Thumb_thumb - Get the entire thumbnail - Thumb_bits -
