He was the brother of Robert Emmet Hilliard, and the brother-in-law of Herschel Vespasian Johnson, both members of the United States House of Representatives from Georgia. Born in Savannah, Georgia, Hilliard was educated in the local public schools and was admitted to the Georgia State Bar in 1881. He practiced law in Savannah until 1885, when he moved to New York City and joined the law firm of Robert Emmet Hilliard. Hilliard was then appointed as the United States Consul for the State of Georgia to the Bahamas, but was unsuccessful in obtaining a renewal of his appointment. He then was appointed by President William McKinley as the U.S. Consul General for France in 1902, a position he held until his death in Paris. Hilliard was married to Julia Stith Hilliard, the eldest daughter of wealthy Savannah business man Alexander Stith, on January 9, 1884. He was the father of four children, one of whom died at birth. He died at his home in Paris on August 8, 1925 and is buried in Paris's Montparnasse Cemetery.
